The main objectives of this grant are the research and development of modular and flexible storage solutions with better performance when accessed by different client applications.

In detail, the work will focus on analyzing and proposing efficient software-defined solutions that make it possible to control the flow of storage requests between different applications and the storage systems present in distributed infrastructures such as advanced computing and cloud computing. The proposed solution has to take into account the performance, scale and resilience of applications and services (e.g. of advanced computing) and will make it possible to solve some of the performance contention problems present in these infrastructures.

3. BRIEF PRESENTATION OF THE WORK PROGRAMME AND TRAINING:

This work plan is part of a PhD thesis with the following goals:

- Implementation of a controller for a Software-Defined Storage platform capable of controlling the data flow between applications and storage systems present at a distributed infrastructures (e.g., advanced computing);
- Experimental validation of the controller with realistic and synthetic workloads.

4. REQUIRED PROFILE:

Admission requirements:

MSc Degree in Informatics Engineering.

The awarding of the fellowship is dependent on the applicants' enrolment in study cycle or non-award courses of Higher Education Institutions.

Preference factors:

Experience on implementing SDS controllers.

Minimum requirements:
