- Collaboration in the writing of a scientific article to disseminate the results.

3. BRIEF PRESENTATION OF THE WORK PROGRAMME AND TRAINING:

- Literature review on WiFi localization, with attention to the WiFi 6 standard, including different localization methods (e.g. trilateration, triangulation)
- Prepare equipment such as WiFi APs or other SDRs, as well as mobile assets to be located, e.g. smartphones or tablets;
- Determine software methodology for collecting data on the state of the channel between WiFi points (i.e. APs and targets);
- Experimental setup in an indoor environment for data collection;
- Data collection according to the chosen methods (e.g. RSSI, FTM, CSI) and creation of a "groundtruth" dataset (with support for existing systems);
- Implementation and comparative analysis of the performance and robustness of the implemented methods;
- Iteration on the system to allow data collection and indoor location in real-time via the analyzed methods;
- Integration with a centralized system via sending collected data and/or estimated positions;
- Preparation of a technical report with results and/or contribution to a scientific article.

4. REQUIRED PROFILE:

Admission requirements:

- Graduation or enrollment in a master's degree in electrical engineering, computer science, or a related field; The awarding of the fellowship is dependent on the applicants' enrolment in study cycle or non-award courses of Higher Education Institutions.
